A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR AR-RIVES IN PARIS.

A few days ago there arrived in Paris a distinguished visitor, one whose presence here means more to the community than would a visit from the Prince of Wales. But no committee of distinguished citizens was on hand to greet him, and his name was not found on the hotel register. He came quietly, unheralded and very much alone.

Slipping quietly into the commu-nity he announced his presence by a cheery whistling and a heavenly song from the lawn of the home where he arrived. Children on their way to school smiled their happy greetings to the newly arrived guest, person, firm or corporation and old age paused leaning on its cane to listen. A maiden looked up THE BOURBON NEWS will be gladly as she passed and heard the voice of the singer with unutterable rapture. The new arrival was the redbreasted robin, harbinger of spring.

The robin's song is a more sacred timepiece than holidays or rising constellations. Not only is the music ineffably sweet, but the bird itself is a token of returning life to the community. The breezes of summer are in his song, and we can see the red flowers on his breast. Next to Nature's greatest wonder and plessing, a baby's smile, the song of the robin imparts more joy to life at present than anything else.

But our guest will do more than sing. He will build. True, it is only a tiny simple edifice that he erects, still he is a builder. And it is something to have constructed in this world of crumbling forms one little nest. And in that nest he and his mate will accomplish that perpetual miracle of Nature, reproduction of themselves. With wonderign eyes we will watch the tiny Then moisten a soft cloth with the eggs, the brooding mother, the providing father, the newborn fledglings, the fluttering wings, and then at last when autumn comes again, the vacant nest. It is our life in miniature.

He will support Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, for the nomination. In his letter Judge Bethurum said he had canvassed the situation and had reached the conclusion that his entering the race would lead to a protracted and heated campaign and that this circumstance would be most unfortunate when the Republicans are "truly on the threshold of a great national victory."

The Marne was one of the great the world. At the Marne the idealism of the ages was fused with the supreme moral and physical heroism of the hour. Over the Marne breathed the spirit of Salamis and of Tours. At the Marne the supreme love of liberty was crystalized into the supreme defense of liberty by one of the agencies of civilization most highly dedicated to human liberty—the Republic of France.

This Memorial, this Gift of America to France, is the effor tto express in a tangible, enduring form the profound admiration of one liberty-loving nation for the devotion of a sister Republic to the ideals and practises of liberty.

This same love, and a similar devotion to similar ideals, led us in time to enter the war. And running current with the high purpose of America to protect this world-liberty, was the steady glow of our century-old gratitude to France. While we do not now feel, nor will we ever feel, that we have paid in measure-full, all we owe to LaFayette, we may truly say that at the later Marne we took a larger credit on our death- ing from the vegetables and fruits less debt to France. FOOD IN SEASON.

A market gardener living near one of the large cities asks why people always hanker after high-priced imported food containing little nourishment when the markets have for sale lower-priced home-grown articles of much greater dietary value. He instances the demand for cucumbers, tomatoes and strawberries, just coming into the markets, which are abnormally high and not at their best in quality, but are finding a ready sale, while the farmers and grocers find it almost impossible to sell their remaining winter vegetables, such as parsnips, turnips and ever you prefer. But to make sure squashes, although these are of first quality, high in nutriment and absurdly low in price.

Of course the principal reason for the demand for luxurious type of foods about which the complaint is made is that people are tired of the heavier diet of winter and long for the lighter, fresher foods. But the point of extravagance is there. It is possible to have a varied diet of easily digested foods without turn-

Experiment.

If you suffer from backache; headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble. Ask your neighbor. They are recommended by thousands. Can Paris residents desire more convincing proof of their effectiveness than the statement of a Paris citizen who has used them and willingly testifies to their worth?

Wm. W. Dudley, 1729 Cypress Street, Paris, says: "Some years ago I found it necessary to use a kidney remedy and as I had read about Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them. They proved to be satisfactory and permanetly rid me of the complaint. have good reason to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise their use to anyone troubled with a weak and lame back or irregular passages of the kidney secretions."

THINGS TO WORRY ABOUT

Of course it would be very nice and commendable to teach the illiterate grown-ups how to read and write in the "moonlight schools." There is a great deal of serious sickness in the Spring. And it is easy to see why. Weber Too Lowor Others Too High?

How Best to Determine Correctness of Price Asked

TITHER the price of the Weber standardized auto-track wagon is away too low or else the prices of other wagons are away too high. You can figure it out for yourself by comparison.

For instance, examine some well-known wagon that sells for practically the same price as the Weber and note carefully the ironing of the gears and the distinctive features - if they have any.

Now come over and see us and let us show you the Weber. Compare this wagon, point for point, and size of each piece of wood stock, with the other fellow's product. Note the ironing of the Weber gears - and bear in mind how cheap the other fellow's wagon gears looked in comparison. Note the Weber swivelreach-coupling that takes all twisting strain off the gears and brakes — and don't forget that this feature was entirely lacking on the other fellow's wagon. Note the Weber Fifth-Wheel that distributes the strain on the front bolster, prevents it from rocking and reduces to a minimum whipping of the tongue, etc. - and don't forget that this feature, too, was altogether lacking on the other fellow's

A difference of $11.50 to $18.00 in favor of the Weber is apparent nearly

Now then - answer to your own satisfaction the question of whether the price of the Weber with strictly A-grade wheels with high carbon tire, is too low or the prices of other wagons too high, considering quality. And remember - we sell Weber Auto-Track Wagons - the "King of all Farm Wagons."

The communique announcing the resignation of Chancellor Kapp endeavors to give a patriotic aspect to his withdrawal. It says:

of the Kapp government, Chancellor Kapp considers his mission fulfilled and retires, resigning the executive power again into the hands of the military Commander-in-chief

"In this he is moved by the conviction of the extreme necessity of union of all against the annihilating dangers of Bolshevism"

The resignation of Chancellor Kapp and his chief official announcement:

retirement are still shrouded in mystery. An important factor undoubtedly is to be found in the deliberations of the Under Secretaries and Imperial Council Tuesday, which Major General Luettwitz attended. The views of this conference were that both Kapp and von Luettwitz withdraw in order to terminate an intolerable position.

Von Luetwitz agreed to this, but when he returned to the Chancellory he allowed himself to be pursuaded to change his mind and retain office. To him has been delegated the executive power by the former revolutionary Chancellor ,and it is diffi-cult to say what will happen now that von Luettwitz remains the military dictator at Berlin.

OBJECTS OF THE AMERICAN LEGION

"For God and country we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the Great War: to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."-Preamble to the Constitution of the Legion.

Just a year ago the American Legion was born. It crept out of cootieladen billets in France without name or purpose, other than a determination to have an organization that would stand for America and the unselfish principles of American Democracy.

No one knows where the thought originated. It was spontaneous. The demand that came from officers and men resulted in a joint assemblage at Paris from March 15 to March 17, 1919. Rank was thrown aside; privates argued with colonels; comradeship entered in, and the manhood of America displayed in this first caucus that the army of the United States had a militant soul and conscience as well as a disciplined and conquering body.

Lewis, and the committee of the American Legion.

The Legion is working for the Americanization of the foreign-born element, which annually comes to Kentucky, to the end that it may be assimilated in a practical way into the ideals of America. The Legion is seeking the general use of the English language and the proper control of immigration.

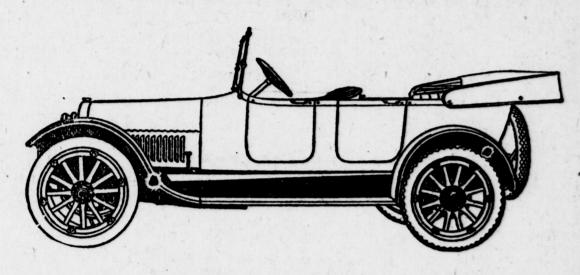

In the name of the Kentucky Legion bills curbing sedition are now before the legislature. They echo the determination reached in all national Legion gatherings to mete out punishment to those persons making radical the present form of Government. The Legion believes that free speech does not mean license and that the issue must be met squarely and promptly; by and look on while agitators of unrest and violence pursue their mims.

OR twenty years Buick engineers and I designers have been moving forward, building a Buick prestige in motor car design and construction that has answered the world's challenge.

It has been an achievement worth the effort and established a Buick reputation of high standard and value.

The public has learned to depend upon the Buick Valve-in-Head Motor Car, and the great demands upon Buick dealers for Buick models is the highest compliment that can be paid to Buick achievement.
